The emotional challenges of coming to terms with sight loss

An audio-visual presentation

Learners' outcomes:

- To have a better understanding of the emotional and mental challenges of having a sight loss and SEND
- To have a deeper knowledge of the causes of mental health disorders
- To be more able to identify & meet the needs of children with anxiety & depression related to their sensory loss

Previous delegates have said

- "It was a pleasure to attend the training. I really enjoyed it"
- "It made me think how hard it must be for children who are visually impaired to not only have to struggle with that but also how to process their feelings about it"
- "Would be very useful for parents and teachers/support workers; it will give them a different perspective and strategies"
- "It made me reflect on X's behaviour; with his eyesight it is hard for him to trust or build a relationship and the only reaction for him is hitting"
- "It was a privilege hearing from the children themselves"
- "I especially enjoyed the video case studies"
- "It has helped me develop more empathy with the child and I really want to do something to help"
