PROVISION

How will you help my child transition into and out of the school?

We are part of the local offer for special education in Westminster. As part of this we have entry and exit criteria which we use to make an initial assessment about whether we can meet an individual pupils needs. Once a placement is accepted at QEII we use continuous assessment to make a judgement about whether we continue to meet their needs. If we can no longer meet the pupil's needs we would inform the LA and recommend a different type of provision. All children entering and leaving QEII will have a transition plan.

What will you teach my child?

The curriculum is developmental and focuses on learning skills for life. Each pupil accesses the curriculum according to their own level of ability and they are supported and challenged to learn at a pace that will enable them to make good and outstanding progress. Teaching focuses on functional skills including life skills, communication, language and literacy, numeracy and technology; and creative learning delivered through art, drama, music, play and dance.

A topic based approach ensures access to wider learning in a way that is meaningful for the pupils. Please see Curriculum area of the website for further details.

How will the curriculum be adapted to support my child?

Every pupil has individual outcomes agreed in their EHCP and the curriculum is adapted to meet these needs:

Many of our pupils find it difficult to access learning and can be supported in a variety of ways:

- Assistive technology
- Visual and sensory aids
- Objects of reference
- Specialist software/hardware
- Specialist equipment
- Daily postural management and mobilising programmes
- Sensory diets and sensory integration strategies
- Learning to learn skills
- Positive behaviour support plans
- A range of community-based learning opportunities

How will you monitor and review the impact of the provision and my child’s progress?

The class team capture the progress through a range of sources:

- EHCP outcome tracking
- Monitoring and reviewing PCPs and positive behaviour plans
- Developmental curriculum
- Video and Photographic evidence
- Data sheets; using a range of assessment tools and strategies
- Observations

The progress of pupils is tracked using EHCP trackers and BSquared Engagement Steps or Progression Steps. Continuous assessment and termly monitoring ensures that pupils stay on target. If pupils are not achieving as well as expected, then interventions are put in place to support their learning. Pupil progress meetings are held termly. IEP targets are reviewed and shared with parents on a termly basis and reviewed and shared with parents annually at the annual review of the pupil’s Statement of SEN or EHCP.

How do you prepare young people for adulthood?

The curriculum is based on the fundamentals of engagement, communication and interaction. The development of the pupil’s independence, thinking skills and social skills are essential to their learning. The expectation is that they will do as much as they can for themselves and be able to express their views, opinions and feelings wherever possible.

Many pupils will remain dependent on adults for the care and support; it is therefore essential that we give them a voice, develop their ability to express likes and dislikes and make choices to improve their quality of life.

How will you develop my child’s social skills?

The curriculum is focused on teaching skills for life; social skills are embedded into everyday learning opportunities. Pupils are given opportunities to learn new skills and then practice in a variety of situations across the school day and in different environments.

Pupils are taught ‘learning to learn’ skills which develop the basics of attention, looking, listening.

QEII’s wider curriculum gives pupils the opportunity to develop their skills in the wider community through visits to the local shops and amenities. We have two school minibuses which enable us to access learning further afield.

How do I know that you are doing all of this?

- Looking for key information on our school website and in our Ofsted report.
- Reading school newsletters that are sent to parents at least once every term.
- Communicating through the home-school contact book and at parent / teacher meetings.
- Attending workshops, parent support group meetings and drop-ins for parents at school.
- Joining us for special assemblies and events
- Joining community visits and trips.
- Talking with staff.

How will my child be part of the wider school?

- Assemblies
- School productions
- School fairs
- Special school-based awards e.g. through assemblies and Jack Petchey award
- Access to special events
- Regular educational visits within and beyond our local area
- Introducing visitors to our school including professionals, musicians and theatre groups

PARENTS

How do you communicate with parents?

We have a strong commitment to partnership between home and school. We believe that children learn far more effectively when staff, parents and carers work together. We do this through:

- Home-school diaries
- Telephone calls, as necessary
- Letters, texts and/or emails, as appropriate
- Informally through parent support group meetings, whole school assemblies and celebrations.

How will pupils and parents contribute to the processes, planning and assessment?

Parents are involved in the initial assessment of their child after which regular meetings are held to discuss progress and future targets through, parent's evenings, annual review and home visits. EHCPs and relevant programmes are sent home to parents.

Pupil's voice is developed throughout the curriculum, assessment for learning, photo books and videos. The School Council represents the views of the pupils and, where relevant and appropriate, pupils attend their annual review.

What support is available to parents?

As many pupils come to school by local authority transport, support and information is provided through home-school contact books.

The school organises regular parent support group meetings, which are currently hosted by the educational psychologist and family worker. These sessions focus on topics that have been identified by parents as areas of particular interest to them. Parents will also be provided with information on other organisations within Westminster that are able to support parents with the non-educational aspects of caring for a child with disabilities.

We have a Federation-wide part time Family Link Worker who will be available to advise parents and carers on a wide range of issues relating to parenting and SEND.
